Living History:
Edmonia Highgate

Learn about Edmonia Highgate and her important work with prominent abolitionists, and the educational history of Hosanna School Museum, the first of three Freedmen’s Bureau schoolhouses erected in Harford County.

Brittany Martin is an alumnus of Harford Community College (2013). During her time at HCC, she was actively involved in the Soar 2 Success Program. She was featured on WBAL-TV on their coverage of the “Faces of Freedom” exhibit for her portrayal of Lear Green, a slave from Baltimore.

Her most notable portrayal is Edmonia Highgate, the first Black teacher at Hosanna School. She was given the opportunity to portray her at the Annual Juneteenth Celebration at the Hosanna School for two years.
